No bus hike enthusiasm

By BILL WINTER
Editor

Enthusiasm and numbers were lacking, but the Bi-State Development Agency met all requirements for citizen input here Tuesday night on its proposed July 1 bus fare increase. The basic rate is to rise from 25 to 50 cents.

Counting agency personnel, 21 persons attended the public hearing at the Granite City Township Building. In all, five Missouri hearings and four Illinois hearings are being held this week.

No one from the public spoke favorably of the fare hike, but several acknowledged it is probably unavoidable. Agency spokesmen stressed that due to inflation the increase is needed to continue approximately the same level of service.

The bus fare boost proposal is separate from the state legislative plan to allow Madison County to create a mass transit district. The district, if formed, could levy a 1/2 of 1 percent sales tax to help finance the bus system and expand its Illinois routes.

First to testify here Tuesday evening, Glen Bettorf, spoke from a wheelchair. He pointed out that the proposed fare hikes for handicapped and elderly bus riders are a higher percentage increase than that proposed for general fares.

Bettorf noted that few if any present buses utilize a lift to help the handicapped board them. Janis Grossman, Bi-State director of planning, said there have been problems with such lifts but that newly-ordered buses are supposed to be adequately equipped for this purpose.

He recalled that lift buses were operated over the McKinley Bridge for awhile before the lift service to the Quad-City area was halted.

Rita Baird commented, "If you're going to double the fare, the least you could do is have buses stop closer to downtown St. Louis than Tenth Street and Washington Avenue. We stand there in the pouring-down rain, in the wind, with no protection."

Evelyn Glouk said, "I'd like to suggest that you consider smaller buses. Sometimes when I ride the bus there are only two or three persons on it, which is a waste of energy." She also criticized the 10th and Washington routing.

The transit system planning director responded that small buses would cost almost as much as large buses to operate, particularly since the driver's pay would be the same.

Rosalie Stern said the present bus system fails to connect many Illinois cities with each other. To go from the Quad-Cities to Washington Park or to Belleville, it is necessary to first take a bus to St. Louis, she told the gathering.

Mrs. Stern also noted that she has two sons attending Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Due to lack of bus service and differing class schedules, they must take two autos to reach the campus, she said.

Leon Hudson testified with the use of sign language and a translator. He suggested that a lower fare be

Bookmobile rescued by petitions

Petitions for retention of bookmobile service apparently will prove successful in persuading Granite City library officials to continue the service.

The topic was discussed at a meeting of the public library board Tuesday evening. A combined petition measuring 114 feet, seven inches in length was presented, containing the signatures of more than 3,000 elementary school pupils.

There had been concern that, if the library board budgeted for construction of a new building as a branch library, this might squeeze out the traveling bookmobile as a service to young people.

It was indicated Tuesday night that the bookmobile will be continued for at least two years and probably indefinitely.

Many youngsters borrow books from the vehicle when it stops at their grade school. All schools but Emerson and Mitchell are served by the bookmobile. Students, teachers and parents say that without the bookmobile, many children would be unable to regularly

OLD NO. 8, one of three switching locomotives used by the American Steel Foundries for more than 30 years, was presented to the National Museum of Transport, St. Louis County, this morning during a brief ceremony at the local plant. Two new locomotives, each having 1,000 horsepower, are replacing two of the older diesel-electric locomotives. Old No. 8 is being retired after 32 years of service at the plant. Two engines with a total of 600 horsepower, were installed in the locomotive by the plant, but age and maintenance contributed to its retirement. Manufactured by the Whitcomb & Locomotive Co., Rochelle, Ill., No. 8 weighs 65 tons and has a maximum operating speed of 41 mph. It will become a working exhibit at the museum, which will reopen for visitors on Sunday, June 15.

Ask county to review its lax approach on child molester

Laxity is being charged by parents in the official handling of a case in which children aged four to seven have been subjected to sexual views and/or contact.

Widespread fear in the Meadow Lane Drive residential area of Mitchell has been developing last week and this week, resulting in a meeting Tuesday night at which the possibility of a petition drive was discussed. Families are deeply concerned about the well being of their youngsters, they commented.

Parents told the Press-Record they feel the Third Judicial Circuit and the Madison County state's attorney's office should review their handling of the case and consider further action.

Some say professional counseling should be ordered. Others object to the stand by prosecutors, whom they say promised felony action but settled for misdemeanor proceedings.

At Tuesday night's meeting in one of the homes, parents of abused children spoke out and there also was commentary by a Granite City family, which said a related 1968 case was not prosecuted because of the impact on a young girl who would have had to testify.

It has been noted that Illinois laws include such felony offenses as obscenity and indecent liberties with a child. There are also many misdemeanor charges in such categories.

James S. Coffman, 40, of Meadow Lane Drive, a truck driver, pleaded guilty May 2 to three charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor and one charge of indecent solicitation of a minor. Sentencing is awaiting a court-order study.

various young girls into a garage. He described them as "several children in the neighborhood."

After the four misdemeanor charges were filed this spring, Circuit Judge Victor Mosele signed warrants setting the bonds at $5,000 each.

When the man pleaded guilty to the four charges, Associate Judge George Filcoff authorized release on a recognizance bond pending completion

Lifetime of music and church activity

(Related Story on Page 14)

The past half century has flown rapidly for Mrs. Jewell Everett, who will be honored here at 2 p.m. Sunday on her 50 years as a piano teacher.

"My first experience with music began when my parents presented me with a piano for my fifth birthday, and I took my first lesson that same day. Since then, I have studied under many teachers, including a voice teacher whose teacher was taught by the great Lamperti," she recalled today.

"My musical talent spread into the religious field when I started playing the piano for Sunday school at First Baptist Church in Granite City at the age of nine.

"At the age of 17, I was elected at a business meeting to play the organ for church services. And, after three lessons from a conservatory graduate teacher, I had my first experience at playing the organ for First Baptist Church," Mrs. Everett told the Press-Record.

"About the same time that I started playing the organ for church, I also

A total of 221 marriages were performed in Madison County during April, an increase over the 215 reported during the same month a year ago, according to a vital statistics report released by County Clerk Evelyn Bowles. The report showed a total of 288 births—118 boys and 150 girls—during the month, compared to 211 births—106 boys and 105 girls—during the same month in 1979. Two sets of twins were born last month. One set of twins was born in April 1979. There were 159 deaths during April this year, compared with 170 in April last year.

Sweet Adelines regional winners

The Collinsville Chapter of Sweet Adelines, Inc., were presented three trophies after winning the Region 5 chorus competition. Chorus President Eileen Wright and Chorus Director George Holtzsch, both of Collinsville, accepted the trophies. The competition registered 20 of the 30 choruses in the region.

By winning the 1980 championship medals and trophies also qualifies the chorus to represent the six state region at the International Sweet Adelines Chorus Competition in Phoenix, Ariz.

Holtzsch said this will be the first international competition for the Collinsville chorus since it was formed in 1968.

They will now join choruses from the other 23 regions in the international organization in direct competition for the International Chorus Championship.

Members of the chorus also received other honors in addition to the trophies and medals. The chapter monthly bulletin, Teepee Town Tales edited by Mary Slantz, won top honors for the third consecutive year.

Previous winning editors, Nancy Fox and Chryel Wessel from Collinsville, were named editors of the regional bulletin the second year. Nancy Fox also placed third in Council Member of the Year competition.

Judith Holtzsch of Collinsville received the second place award for novice arrangers and was named to the staff of the regional director of musical activities the second year.

Holtzsch sang tenor with lead Ethel McCann and baritone Jody Little, both of Collinsville.

Granite City, and bass Jean Freeman of Vandalia in the Sunshine Company quartet which placed sixth while chorusing with 19 other quartets in the weekend event.

The Collinsville Chorus will begin immediate preparation for its appearance at the international competition. The chorus membership will be opened for 20 new singers as of May 20. Any woman interested in singing is invited to attend a chorus meeting, Holtzsch announced.

He added meetings are held at the Collinsville Building and Loan Association, 701 Belt Line Road, and begin at 7:30 p.m. each Tuesday. For further information those interested may call 344-6636.

Weekend campout for Troop Seven

Scouts from Troop 7, St. Joseph's Catholic Church, participated in a weekend camping adventure held at the Granite City Army Installation. Troop members departed from St. Joseph's on Friday, hiked to their campsite at the depot, and returned on a Sunday.

Activities at the campout were varied. Scouts Mike Mainridge and David Gushieff made a campsite pot-holer.

During the outing, the scouts held a campfire, inviting parents to attend, and performed campfire skits.

Skill awards earned were: cooking, Tony Jordan; and hiking, Mike and Mark Mainridge and Alan Yureck.

Most job offers to engineers

Engineering graduates are currently getting the most job offers and highest starting salaries in the job market, according to a survey by the College Placement Council.

The Council bases its conclusions on data submitted by placement offices at 164 colleges and universities. From Sept. 1, 1979, to March 6, 1980, about 62 percent of the job offers were to graduating engineers.

Former graduates and upcoming June graduates from the SIUE departments of civil, industrial or electrical engineering have not had any problems finding jobs, according to William Ford, chairman of the department of engineering.

"They are finding jobs easily at good salaries ranging up to $22,000 a year," he said.

The other groups surveyed — business-related disciplines, humanities and social sciences, and science studies — also reported an increase in starting salaries.

In business, salary gains since July 1979 ranged from 6.5 percent for accounting majors to 8.6 percent for general business majors. In the science studies, computer science graduates accounted for over half of the job offers with an average monthly salary offer of $1,527.

In humanities and social sciences, graduates are also receiving higher starting salaries but the percentage increases are the lowest of the groups surveyed.

For more information regarding engineering programs or planning "a curriculum that is marketable," interested persons may contact the University Placement Service office at 692-2900.

A cow statue is the only thing known missing after a burglary at the home of Rich Wiender, 2715 Buxton Ave., which was reported Thursday. The house was ransacked. ECCELESIASTES 3:4 "A time to weep, and a time to laugh; a time to mourn, and a time to dance."

These words are from Solomon, one of the wisest kings who ever ruled. There is to everything a season, and a time to every purpose under the heaven.

Why not a time to weep? Why not a time to laugh? He has seen those who weep and those who laugh. Always under a heavy load. Never able to muster a smile. Clouds of depression seem to surround them. Hear ye the words of Christ: Come unto me all ye who are heavy-laden and I will give thee rest. The abiding presence of Christ will bring laughter to your life.

Laughter continually has to be faked sometime. We can laugh a lot, but we cannot laugh at everything in life. There is a time to laugh, and a time to weep.

God will help you find the proper balance. With Him we can laugh and still be serious. We can weep and still be happy!

Try it God's way. Today.

Progress at E. St. Louis SIUE center

Progress is being made at the East St. Louis Center of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville toward more extensive involvement of the Center with the East St. Louis community and with the university's main campus, according to Emil Jason, acting director.

In a report to the SIUE Board of Trustees, meeting at the Center, Jason was joined by two of his colleagues—Sylvia Morgan, coordinator of the Science Awareness Project, and Eugene Haynes, visiting professor assigned to the Music Sensitivity Component. They traced progress that has been made, while focusing on current developments and future directions of the university in East St. Louis.

Jason said current and future highlights include:

—The first "wet laboratory" has been completed for the Science Awareness Project.

—Transfer of the library from the basement into renovated quarters on the first floor is nearly complete.

—Renovation of the fourth floor for a satellite clinic of the School of Dental Medicine is scheduled for completion July 1.

—Another area of the fourth floor is scheduled for renovation for the home economics program.

—Four-year capstone programs have been proposed and are being reviewed by the university in the areas of medical administration, mass transit management training, and administration of justice-law enforcement.

—Renovation is planned to permit the establishment of a community service multipurpose room; and —A hot food service and bookstore facility are recommended for the future.

Jason said the university has spent $1,229,000 renovating the former Broadway Hotel building since 1970 for operations at the Center, and nearly $1 million of that total has been spent in the last two years.

"Plans are now being formulated to complete the building renovation," Jason said. "When all floors are completed, we will be able to serve more than 1,000 students in new capstone programs, from 400 to 800 in upper division and graduate courses from the SIUE campus, and another 500 to 800 in non-credit community classes."

"Citing the university's involvement with East St. Louis, Jason pointed to the reorganization of the Citizens Advisory Council; cooperation with city government projects through the Director's Advisory Council; cooperation with School District 189 in science awareness, dance, drama and music sensitivity programs; cooperation with State Community College in jointly developing capstone programs; and cooperation with the Urban League and Target 2000 in community service programs.

Jason said all major areas of the main campus have increased their interest and cooperation with the East St. Louis Center. "All academic programs that we propose for the East St. Louis campus are reviewed by the appropriate bodies at SIUE," he said. "The review process has been thorough and equitable."

The acting director reminded the board of the cooperative agreement approved by the SIUE trustees in March, making it possible for students from either SIUE or State Community College to take selected classes from the other without additional cost to the student.

Mrs. Morgan said the Science Awareness Project, the first and only one of its kind in the area, prepares high school students to pursue careers in science, engineering and health-related fields in college. She said the ultimate objective is "to correct the imbalance in minority representation on professional levels, in the fields, of science and technology."

In commenting on the Music Sensitivity Program, Haynes said the objective is to supplement instruction provided in regular school music programs. "The aim of the program is not only to get the young interested in music, but also to give experience in the study, appreciation and performance of music," Haynes concluded.

RABIES CLINIC

On Saturday two rabies clinics will be held, one at the Venice City garage from 1 p.m. until 2 p.m. and the other from 3 p.m. until 4:30 p.m. in the Nameoki Township garage. On Saturday, May 24, the clinics will be held from 1 p.m. until 2:30 p.m. in the Madison city garage, and from 3 p.m. until 4:30 p.m. at the Long Lake fire station in Pontoon Beach. Cost of the clinic is $5 per dog or cat.

Conclave scheduled

The annual Cahokia Lodge Order of the Arrow Spring Conclave and camp work day will be held Friday, Saturday and Sunday, June 6, 7, and 8 at Camp Sunnen, near Potosi, Mo. New members will be inducted and members with more than 10 months service may be elevated to Brotherhood membership, according to Scott Barrios, lodge chief. The Arrow is a national brotherhood of Scout honor campers. Among the projects planned to ready the camp for the summer season are removal of dead trees, distribute equipment to the campers, repair and paint the latrines and wash stands, clean shower drains and repair faucets. Reservations are due at the Scout Service Center by Monday, June 2.

Burglary foiled by guard

The Madison County state's attorney's office will be asked today to approve a felony warrant against a 16-year-old Granite City youth who allegedly attempted to break into Park-N-Eat, 1525 Niedringhaus Ave., at 3:55 a.m. today.

A security guard for St. Elizabeth Medical Center said he saw the youth tear a speaker from a service stand in the Park-N-Eat lot and then carry it to the front of the building, where he used the speaker to smash the front plate glass window.

The security guard, Richard Roberts, then chased the youth, catching him between the 2100 blocks of Madison and Grand avenues.

He was held until police arrived and took him to the Granite City Jail, where he was being held today, pending the filing of charges.

NIXON RESIGNS

On Aug. 9, 1974, Richard M. Nixon became the first president of the United States to resign from office.

News notes

Garden Study Club members planted flowers in the Wilson Park flower gardens Wednesday.

A dime a gallon gasoline purchase fee to be paid by consumers, sought by the Carter administration, did not go into effect today due to a court order which the president is appealing. Congress may end the issue by voting to override the fee plan.

Illinois House consideration of proposed Equal Rights Amendment ratification was postponed Wednesday because it appeared the proponents were two votes short of the number needed. Democrats handling the issue assailed Governor James R. Thompson, an ERA advocate, for not saying more legislators to vote for it.

The Willard Burriss Fund has been established at the Granite City Trust and Savings Bank by Betty Rohlfing, 165 Briarwood, who said that persons may contribute to the account to aid Burriss and his family. A Briarwood area resident, the deaf mute lost his right arm and a left finger and thumb in an accident at the Cuyler plant in St. Louis May 6. He is in intensive care at Barnes Hospital for his injuries, including burns to the left arm. He was hurt at an 850-degree molding machine.

Groundbreaking for a new 26,667 square foot Madison County Mutual Automobile Insurance Co. office building is set for 5 p.m. Monday, May 19, at a 17-acre site southeast of the SIUE entrance on Ill. Rt. 157.

Sales by U.S. automakers in the first ten days of May hit the lowest level in 22 years, totalling 142,632, a 42 percent drop from 245,124 in the same period a year ago.

The Illinois House approved 89-59 Tuesday a bill to create an independent commission to set salaries for state legislators, judges, the governor and other statewide elected officials.

The Missouri Court of Appeals ruled Tuesday that an investment club active in this region is an illegal pyramid scheme. Those who lost $1,000 or other sums will have to handle any recovery lawsuits on their own, the attorney general said.

DECANTERS TAKEN

Several full whiskey decanters valued at $345 in addition to a $300 television set were stolen between 2 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. Tuesday from the home of Billy C. Dugan, 2023 Sken St., Madison.

Piasa generous to 8 borrowers, witness contends

The former Piasa First Federal Savings & Loan Association in Alton loaned money in heavy concentrations to about eight borrowers who apparently borrowed in excess of Piasa's legal lending limits, the jury was told during testimony in the trial of Jim Green versus the Alton Telegraph Tuesday morning.

Borrowers named as having borrowed in excess of Piasa's legal limits included Green, Mike Sasyk, John Sobel, Everett Steele and Ray Kozielek. The witness, Albion Fenderson, acting president of the Federal Home Loan Board of Chicago, did not continue with the list of the eight.

The testimony came during the third week of the trial in which Jim Green contends a confidential memo sent by two Telegraph reporters to the U.S. Justice Department was responsible for his credit being cut off by Piasa.

Green seeks $5 million actual damages and $10 million punitive damages. Fenderson was called to the stand by William Cox, attorney for the Telegraph, who is attempting to show that the memo had nothing to do with Green's credit being halted by Piasa.

The witness said that when federal examiners studied Piasa's books in August, 1969, they submitted their report to him and he found that Piasa had made a great many loans in the past year, including heavy concentrations of loans to about eight multiple borrowers.

Savings and loan associations may not loan more than their net worth or 10 percent of their savings account assets to any one borrower, and it appeared that loans to those eight, including Green, were in excess of the amount allowed by law, Fenderson testified.

He said he also found some "boot-strapping procedure" had apparently been used by Piasa in making about 70 percent of its construction loans. He alleged that appraisers for Piasa were appraising construction jobs over their true value and Piasa appeared to be making "inflated" loans and investing the excess borrowed money in secured savings accounts in the borrower's names.

The procedure "had the effect of making it easier for the buyer" to meet the minimum down payment, since the money in the secured savings account was pledged to the mortgage and served as part of the down payment.

Asked if he had ever seen this procedure used before by a savings and loan association, Fenderson stated, "I never saw it before, or since." He did say that Piasa was careful not to violate the law by loaning more than the maximum percentage allowed to any one project. "However," he stated, "we caused the appraisals. We felt they were too high."

After Fenderson wrote Piasa to criticize the practice, Piasa agreed, in writing, to halt the pledged account procedure and to reappraise property in question. Piasa officials also agreed to reevaluate multiple borrowers, such as Green, the witness recalled.

He said he suggested that Piasa use the three accepted methods of determining the value of a building about to be constructed. Piasa used "strictly the cost basis and used the total cost as the value of the building," he contended.

The cost to build the building should be one of the three considerations, but two others should also be used in determining the eventual value of the building to be constructed.

The second consideration should be the market—meaning determining what the building to be constructed would sell for, in that area, after it was completed.

The third factor which should be considered, particularly in constructing rental property, is the income the building would produce, after expenses, for the owner.

He said the income approach is one of the most important considerations in making loans for constructing apartment buildings because the necessity of the owner making a profit is "very important. If it is not making a profit, the owner is not likely to maintain it properly and eventually may abandon the property," Fenderson testified.

Fenderson was on the stand all day yesterday as Green's attorney, Rex Carr, attempted to discredit his testimony.

Carr had Fenderson agree that he had seen letters from the Justice Department prior to approving the Nov. 7, 1969, action of the Piasa Board of Directors halting the cash flow to Green.

However, Fenderson said the letter which alleged Green was associated with enterprises of the late Buster Wortman was "not on my mind" when he acted on the action of the Piasa board. He also said he considered the Justice Department letter "as an assertion only."

Carr asked, "If they (Piasa) were making loans to hoodlums, you would have had the duty to instruct Piasa not to make loans to them. Is that correct?" Fenderson answered in the affirmative.

Carr's lengthy cross-examination of Fenderson was punctuated by objections from the other attorneys, who contended the form of questioning was "badgering the witness" and, at one point, was "discrediting the dignity of the court," according to William Cox, attorney for the Telegraph.

Testimony in the case was to resume today as the trial enters its 14th day.

Explosion destroys house; two teens flee from scene

Two teenage boys, one with his trousers leg on fire, ran from 2210 Illinois Ave., at 10:50 last night after an explosion and fire in the vacant house.

Neighbors heard a loud explosion and the sound of glass breaking and looked to see two boys, in the mid to late teens, fleeing from the front of the burning house, officers were told. One was beating at his burning trousers leg with his left hand, several of the witnesses said.

The fire destroyed the vacant house, which was owned by Tom and Dorothy Biggs, and a south wall of the house collapsed onto the home of Tom Speece, 2208

Illinois Ave. The resulting fire caused extensive damage to Speece's home.

Police also questioned a taxicab driver who said he picked up two boys on the parking lot of Cohen's Foods, 23rd Street and Illinois Ave., who matched the description of the boys who fled from the burning house. They seemed to be nervous and in a hurry, the driver said.

Detective Craig Nonn, who is in charge of arson investigations for the Granite City police, was called to the scene to collect evidence and worked throughout the night. Fire department reports on the extent of the damage had not been completed this morning.

Shotgun is fired at auto

Granite City police were called to the 2800 block of East 25th Street at 12:55 a.m. today on a report of a disturbance and a shotgun being discharged and found that a gun had been fired at the auto of Robert Wallace, 2815 E. 25th St.

Wallace told officers that a man with a club had been inside the apartment building at 2815 E. 25th St., threatening several residents and putting Klu Klux Klan cards in their mailboxes.

The man left the building and Wallace said he got into his car and drove on the block looking for the man with the club. As Wallace's car passed 2815 E. 25th, he saw the man with the club on the sidewalk and was about to stop when a shotgun was fired from a window of the house, so Wallace sped away.

Police talked to several persons and were unable to locate the man who had the club. However, Douglas L. Robertson, 34, of 2819 E. 25th St., was arrested and charged with reckless conduct, disorderly conduct and failure to have a firearm owner's identification card after he admitted firing the 20-gauge shotgun from his residence.

The task was conceived and completed on May 8 and 9.

In security checks over the past few days, 13 were arrested and charged with illegal transportation or possession of beer.

Wanda Meritz, 20, of 4497 Vine Blvd. was charged with open alcohol in a vehicle and released on $35 bond.

Freeman, 20, of 2425 Koney Drive was charged with possession of beer and was released on $35 bond.

Seven other Quad-Cityans, aged 16 and younger, also were arrested and released on bonds.

Cargo airport study by FAA

The Federal Aviation Administration announced Tuesday it has agreed to participate with the St. Louis Metropolitan Area Airport Authority in an assessment of the capacity, energy and environmental benefits of a new all-cargo airport concept at Columbia: Waterloo.

The FAA said it is interested in "all innovative but realistic approaches to improving the nation's air transportation system."

William B. Reeves, executive director of the airport authority, which has its offices at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, said the study would be a concept offers "significant increases in system capacity, with attendant increased efficiency and night-time noise relief for those metropolitan hub airports presently using all-cargo operations."

As an example of this concept, Chicago's O'Hare Airport has been cited as a concept operations which "conceivably could be integrated into a central, all-cargo hub airport concept," he said.

The FAA announcement is being cited as justification for restoring the SLMAAA 1980-81 budget in the state legislature.

Elks honor local police at 10th annual dinner

PRAISE WAS IN ORDER for local police officers at the 10th annual Elks Law and Order dinner Monday night at the Elks Lodge. Clifford Van Meter, director of the Police Training Institute at the University of Illinois, right, was the guest speaker for the event.

"To expect more from a police officer than is humanly possible is foolish. We expect too much from police—more than we expect from the minister, the doctor, the lawyer and the mayor. We cannot expect that," Clifford W. VanMeter, director of the Police Training Institute at the University of Illinois, Champaign, told those attending the 10th annual law and order dinner in Granite City Monday night.

The annual event is hosted by Granite City Lodge 1063, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, to honor officers of the Granite City, Madison, Venice and Pontoon Beach police departments.

VanMeter said far too much emphasis is placed on the role of police in catching criminals, instead of in preventing crime.

"Police are just people who do a law enforcement job. Sometimes we think as the police as the apprehenders," not the preventers," the speaker told the sell-out crowd in the Elks Lodge.

The most effective crime prevention is that done by the citizens, he said, suggesting that each person present spend time examining his own home to be sure it is secure from burglars. "Check the locks on the doors and windows. In 1965, was in the basement of the Granite City Hall, he added.

"The Police Training Institute is celebrating its 25th anniversary this year

VanMeter contended.

He also asked those present to "get involved" in law enforcement. "If you are a witness to a crime or a traffic accident, get involved. Don't run. Don't duck. Help the officers," he suggested.

VanMeter, who is an associate professor at the University of Illinois, said the Police Training Institute had its roots in Granite City. The first course ever offered, in 1955, was in the basement of the Granite City Hall, he added.

"The Police Training Institute is celebrating its 25th anniversary this year and more than 70,000 police officers have been trained during that time," he added.

VanMeter thanked the Elks for hosting the event and said he feels service organizations in other cities should take the good example being set in Granite City and should take time annually to honor their policemen.

Each individual should try to honor the police and should tell officers or the chiefs when an officer has done a good job, he suggested. Far too much time is spent criticizing policemen and there is seldom any thanks for a job well done, he added.

Letters sent to the chiefs commending officers when they do their job well are appreciated by the officer and by the police department, he summarized.

"With combined support, we can make this a better area and a fine place in which to live," the speaker concluded.

VanMeter was introduced by Attorney Len Konzen. Konzen also honored the work done by the policemen, saying, "In business, the customer is always right. In police work, the customer is always wrong. Among the police, we seem to find the true pledge and dedication for public service."

Exalted Ruler George Irwin welcomed the 250 persons who attended the dinner and the Rev. James Mory of St. John's United Church of Christ delivered the invocation and benediction.

Plaques of appreciation were given to Granite City Police Chief Ronald Veizer, Madison Chief Donald Bridick, Venice Chief Farris Smith and Pontoon Beach Assistant Chief Harold Denham by Elmer Milton, Americanism chairman for the Elks.

Tavern reopening request is denied

Over 50 people crowded into the conference room at the Madison City Hall Tuesday evening to voice objections to the reopening of the former Sportsman's Club tavern, 1001 Iowa St., Madison.

The Madison Zoning Board was hearing a request from Clarence Boyles and Annie Holtsford for a special use permit to operate the tavern, which has been closed for the past two years.

The location of the tavern is zoned residential. The zoning board heard from many residents, most of them against the tavern opening.

Just prior to the City Council meeting the zoning board voted to recommend to the Madison Council that the request to open be denied.

Prior to the vote on the issue, John Crnkovich, speaking on behalf of 63 persons against the tavern, was recognized to address the City Council at the request of Fourth Ward Alderman Christ Costoff.

Crnkovich contended that the tavern would lower property values, bring unwanted persons into the neighborhood, cause much noise in the evening and take up homeowners' parking spaces in front of homes in the neighborhood.

On a motion by Alderman Mike Sikora, seconded by Alderman Paul Ashford, the council voted unanimously to uphold the zoning board and deny the special use permit.

The council put on first reading an ordinance that would annex two blocks on the south side of the 2000 block of Harris Street, in the McNair Addition, into the City of Madison.

The residents have requested the annexation several times in recent years.

There are about 10 to 15 houses involved and the area will become part of the Second Ward in Madison if approved at the next council meeting.

Madison city officials are meeting at 1:30 p.m. Saturday at the City Hall to attend, in mass, a meeting at 2 p.m. in the Madison County Fireman's Hall, 9510 Collinsville Road, Collinsville.

The purpose of the meeting is to encourage re-enactment of the Federal Revenue Sharing bill, which according to the Illinois Municipal League may be cut out or cut back in the amounts given to local cities.

Letters from Illinois State Representative Sam W. Wolf and State Senator Sam M. Vadalabene both informed the council they will vote against House Bills 1802 and 1803, which deal with the consolidation of local police and fire pension funds into one statewide system.

ARREST MITCHELL

MAN ON WARRANTS
After taking into custody a Mitchell man, Madison officers released him at 6 a.m. Tuesday to Granite City police, who held warrants for his arrest on theft and traffic charges filed in 1979.

Mitchell R. Duglithan, 22, of 612 Margaret St. entered no plea in an appearance before a judge at 10:35 a.m. Tuesday. Bail was set at $450. A mittimus was issued and he was released to Madison County sheriff's deputies at 3:40 a.m. Wednesday.

Boost Tower Lake rents, activity fees

An increase in rental rates for SIUE housing units has been approved by the Southern Illinois University Board of Trustees. The change will raise rates $9 per month per student in the typical two-bedroom, four-student unit at Tower Lake, effective Sept. 1.

Also approved was an increase of $1 per quarter in the activity fee assessed against residents in university housing at SIUE. The increase will be effective in the fall quarter. University officers said the increases in rental rates are based on inflationary pressures, maintenance cost increases, and the state-mandated phaseout of tuition retention funds.

The phaseout of retained tuition funds committed to support university housing will be instituted in the 1980-81 fiscal year. This is expected to amount to a reduction of $82,000 in funds previously used to support housing operations.

Currently, the rental rate is $49 per month per student in a two-bedroom, four-student unit at Tower Lake. In the family housing units, the rate is $177 per month for a two-bedroom, unfurnished apartment. This rate will be increased to $200 per month under the approved plan.

Other rates in the family and single student housing areas will be increased proportionately under the plan. The housing activity fee, which subsidizes the operation of the Tower Lake bus service and supports activities and programs for Tower Lake residents, is currently $3 per quarter and had not been increased since its creation in September 1969.

The increase of $1 is for the fall, winter and spring quarters. The summer quarter activity fee will remain unchanged. The fee is presently $3 per quarter.

A spokesman said costs of operating the bus service have increased to the point that programming and activities for residents can no longer be financed without an increase in the activity fee.

Limb pickups end June 1

Granite City Street Superintendent Lionel Portell announced yesterday that his department will stop picking up limbs and brush at the curb on June 1 so workers can devote their time to street and sewer repairs.

Property owners are being asked not to put limbs at the curb after the deadline, since they will not be collected again until late fall, when the service resumes. "We are limited by weather as to how much time we have to keep our streets repaired and to work on sewer breaks, so we must put all available workers on those jobs," Portell explained.

Interest rate drops

The interest rate on home loans financed through the Veterans' Administration and Federal Housing Administration dropped yesterday to 11 1/2 percent, the lowest it has been in several months, a local mortgage official reports. At one time recently, the interest rate exceeded 14 percent for VA and FHA loans and it has been at 13 percent for the last two weeks, he said.

Two injured, motorist in crash flees

Frank A. Zuniga, 61, of Belleville was injured at 7:15 p.m. Tuesday in the 3300 block of Nameoki Road when the auto he was driving was struck by another vehicle which left the scene.

Zuniga and a passenger in his car, Carmen Zuniga, 37, of Belleville, who also was injured, went to Belleville Memorial Hospital for treatment.

According to several witnesses, Zuniga's northbound auto was halted in the passing lane for a vehicle making a left turn when it was struck in the rear by a green Ford occupied by three people.

The driver of the Ford then backed up, almost striking another car, hit the Zuniga vehicle again and crossed over the adjacent lane into a parking area.

The Ford's driver circled the parking lot and then recrossed Nameoki Road, jumping the concrete divider.

He left the scene traveling south on Nameoki, almost hitting three other vehicles while doing so. An investigation is continuing.

Prison awaits 3 former police

The final avenue of appeal for three former Madison officers who were convicted of racketeering July 5, 1978, ended Monday when the U.S. Supreme Court refused to hear arguments against the convictions of Ronald Grzywacz, Edward Goclan and former Sgt. Richard Krieschok.

Grzywacz, a former officer and former Madison alderman, has been sentenced to serve 12 years in a federal penitentiary after being found guilty by a federal jury of one count of conspiracy to violate the Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations statute (RICO) and one count of giving false statements before a federal grand jury on participation in a scheme to solicit and accept bribes from tavern operators in the city of Madison from 1970 to 1974.

Goclan and Krieschok face seven year penitentiary terms after being found guilty of the same counts as Grzywacz. The three appealed their convictions and sentences to the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit, in Chicago, which affirmed the convictions in August, 1979, on a two-to-one vote of the three-judge panel. They filed for a rehearing, which also upheld the convictions.

The conviction then was appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court, which ruled Monday during a busy day which included major decisions on court-ordered busing and a new interpretation on the Miranda rights of criminals.

Refusal of the Supreme Court to hear the case Monday may be followed by a petition for reconsideration by the high court.

If the high court denies that motion or affirms the convictions in a hearing, jurisdiction of the three will return to the district level, under U.S. District Judge J. Waldo Ackerman, who sentenced them after presiding at their trial in Alton.

Attorneys for the three then will have 120 days in which to file a motion with Judge Ackerman for reduction or modification of the sentences.

The court clerk's office may order the three to begin serving their sentences before that document is filed, but normal procedure has been to wait until after the modification hearing to set a date for them to begin serving their sentences, a court spokesman said.

After that hearing, the clerk's office is likely to give the three some time to get their financial and business affairs in order and set a date for them to report to the U.S. Marshal to begin serving their sentences, the spokesman said.

Suit notice alleges 3 Democrats on board

The Madison City Council this week was served with a notice of intent to commence a civil action for damages in behalf of Larry Gavilsky, a former Madison police officer.

Gavilsky was discharged from the police force Feb. 23 for alleged violation of 13 rules.

William C. Evers III, attorney for Gavilsky, said in part, "Larry Gavilsky was discharged by an improperly constituted Board of Police Commissioners; the City of Madison and its agents have honored this discharge and refused to pay him his salary or let him perform his duties."

The board consists of John

Bridick, president, Andrew Economy, secretary and Casey Krakowicki, all are described as registered Democrats.

Illinois state law calls for one commissioner to be of an opposite party, such as two Democrats and one Republican.

The amount being sought in the pending suit is unknown at this time, as is the date for any court hearings.

In the Gavilsky police board case, Board President Bridick disqualified himself from participating in the decision, since he is the uncle of Chief of Police Donald L. Bridick who brought the action against Gavilsky.

Enters truck, damages auto

Don Ziegler, 406 Kirkpatrick Homes, reported Monday that a burglar forced the vent window of his 1973 pickup truck and stole a 23 channel CB radio, triangle reflectors, a fishnet, four wire hubcaps worth $75, and 12 eight-track tapes valued at $150.

In addition, the thief placed the truck in gear and pushed the vehicle backward, striking and damaging an auto, also belonging to Ziegler, which was parked at the rear. Both vehicles were parked in the 2600 block of Edwards Street.

Lack flood, runoff funds

By DONNA HARTWICK

An informational public workshop on the status of the Cahokia Canal Area Study, held Tuesday night at Granite City High School North, was designed to collect data and opinions on advantages and disadvantages of various aspects of the proposal from area residents and government representatives.

It was emphasized that while planning is continuing for areawide flood and stormwater runoff controls, the outlook for early federal funding of detailed plans and of construction work remains pessimistic.

Richard Astrack, study manager for the St. Louis District, Army Corps of Engineers, addressed the group of interested citizens and gave a slide presentation on four planning objectives. He reviewed measures and alternatives which could be used in solving drainage problems.

The Hartford Canal-Cahokia Canal study is part of planning for multi-million-dollar regional drainage installations proposed in Madison and St. Clair counties.

After his talk, those attending regrouped for two open discussion sessions.

Each person was given an information sheet on flood control, sedimentation, environmental quality and recreation and was requested to list in order of preference and importance the advantages and disadvantages of specific phases.

Among the topics of discussion were zoning, flood insurance, building code regulation, bottoms detention area, earth channel, pump station, levees, flood warning, temporary evacuation, hillside reservoir, flood proofing, permanent flood plain evacuation and floodwall construction all in conjunction with flood control options.

Among sedimentation control options, subjects were upland-hillside control, in-channel control, bottomland control-maintenance, and in-channel control.

Discussions on environmental quality were held on trash removal and cleanup; preserving, enhancing and creating wildlife habitat; preserving cultural resources; retaining, improving or creating fish areas, and providing access to water areas.

The recreation topics include tree, shrub and trail plantings, nature study areas, trails, outdoor athletic facilities, playgrounds and picnic areas.

Primary goals for the Stage Two workshops were to provide information to affected and interested people on options to accomplish each of the planning objectives; allow discussion of these options between Corps personnel and the people; and provide feedback to the Corps on the individuals' evaluation of these options.

A workshop evaluation sheet was given to each one present for completion following the group discussion sessions.

The study area is located primarily in Madison County with smaller segments in St. Clair County and includes the communities of Granite City, Madison, Venice, Fairmont City, Collinsville, Maryville, Glen Carbon, Edwardsville, Mitchell and Ponton Beach.

The total area tributary to the Cahokia Canal includes 43,841 acres of bottomland and 31,492 acres of upland.

The principal hillside streams include Judy's Branch, Burdick Branch, School House Branch and Canteen Creek.

Principal channels for bottomland drainage are County Ditch and Cahokia Canal, with runoff also entering Horseshoe, McDonough and Long Lakes.

The fact sheet to present information on the Cahokia Canal area study will be mailed free of charge to individuals, organizations and businesses who contact Richard Astrack, study manager, St. Louis District, Corps of Engineers, 210 Tucker Blvd. North, St. Louis, Mo. 63101 or call 314-263-5962.

Mrs. Everett

began teaching piano lessons. My first pupil was a visiting cousin.

"This experience was such a success that I gained many more students. I continued my personal education as a music major for six years, after which I again served as church organist and choir director.

"In 1937, I married Dr. A. E. Everett. We both shared a love for music, and my husband encouraged me to continue teaching piano.

"Doctor was my best critic and I will always remember his words to cure my nervousness before I played. He would say, 'Remember, you're working for God. Put your mind on Him, not yourself.'

"I continued directing the church choir at First Baptist Church until 1954, only taking time out in 1944 and 1948 when my son and daughter were born.

"In 1954, for a period of about three years, my husband and I attended Third Baptist Church, and it was not long before I was again elected to be their church organist and choir director.

"During this time at Third Baptist, I also taught the adult ladies' Sunday school class, which I enjoyed although I felt I often learned more than they did.

"After my husband's death in June 1957, I decided to return to First Baptist Church, the minister, the Rev. Sagen, and the choir director, Elvin Kendall, prevailed on me to start a youth choir.

"Being youth choir director at First Baptist was one of the most enjoyable times of my life.

"Together with Betty Lou Miles, who was the youth choir organist, we trained many soloists. During this period, we also conquered many cantatas, including Dubois' 'Seven Last Words' and Stainer's 'Crucifixion.'

"Although I no longer direct the youth choir, I am still playing the organ for First Baptist Church.

"I have taught music and played music in Sunday school and church since the age of 17 and I am still playing the church organ and teaching music.

"I have trained 33 church organists, 50 church pianists, nine people who have become junior or senior high music teachers, two who have become ministers, and two who have become ministers of music.

"It has been a rewarding experience, working for the Lord in this musical vocation.

"On May 18, 1980, I plan to celebrate my 50th year of teaching with a student recital and reception to follow at 2 p.m. at First Baptist Church, Granite City."

Four vehicles sustain damage

Four vehicles sustained damage in an accident at 2:05 a.m. Wednesday in the 2500 block of Washington Avenue. Arrested and charged with reckless driving and failure to give information upon striking an unattended vehicle was Patrick J. Osuchowski, 24, of 3327 Johnson Road.

Police allege that a 1970 auto operated by Osuchowski was traveling north on Washington when it struck the rear of a 1973 car owned by Janet Green, 2502a Washington Ave.

It is alleged the driver of the auto backed up and struck the Green car again while trying to move away and then struck a 1968 auto owned by Frank Finazzo, 2502 Washington, and a brown car whose owner had not been located Wednesday. All three were parked. Police said a witness followed the vehicle, which was badly damaged, when it was driven north on Washington. A license number was obtained and a car was located at E. 25th and Kate streets.

Osuchowski was taken into custody while walking in the 2500 block of E. 25th Street. He was released to appear for a hearing June 20.

HONORED. Senior Airman Ramona L. (Narvaez) Bogart, formerly of Venice, holding gifts in honor of being named Outstanding First Term Airman for the January-March 1980 quarter at Cape Charles AFB, Va.

Air Force Honoree Ramona L. Bogart

SRA Ramona L. (Narvaez) Bogart, formerly of Venice, was selected as Outstanding First Term Airman for the January-March 1980 quarter at Cape Charles AFB, Va.

Senior Airman Bogart is assigned as an electronics computer systems repairman. She was selected above other nominees in the First Term Airman Category for her outstanding job knowledge and creativity.

SRA Bogart performed all required tasks in a superior manner, a citation said. She also spent many hours developing a highly professional bench stock and supply point area. SRA Bogart has been assigned to Cape Charles for 10 months.

For this award, SRA Bogart was presented with a clock and three day pass. Local merchants also contributed products and services to recognize her.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Humphrey, of Venice, and enlisted in 1977.

More annexation at SIUE and Country Club Estates

The Southern Illinois University board has given approval for a small portion of the south side of the SIUE campus to be annexed to the City of Edwardsville.

The authority granted by the board is subject to the condition that all roadways lying within the area presently under the jurisdiction and control of the board will remain under its jurisdiction after annexation.

The part of the campus currently proposed for annexation was in two parcels approved for annexation in June 1978. It was excluded from the 1978 action because the Illinois Terminal Railroad right-of-way is interposed between the two portions annexed in 1978 and the portion now proposed for annexation.

Recent changes in state law permit the city to annex over the right-of-way without the railroad's consent.

Edwardsville officials indicated they desire to annex this portion of the campus because one of the city's major water supply lines runs through the property. Annexation of the campus land will permit the city to complete annexation of the adjoining Country Club Estates residential subdivision south of the campus.

Related to this proposed annexation is the recent action of the City of Edwardsville to annex a parcel of adjoining land, owned by the SIUE Foundation, the Foundation board has granted its consent.

The property being considered for annexation is south of the Madison County nature trail and west of the Supporting Services Building and the university's electrical substation.

Suit against Corps alleges 'bait, switch'

Five "public interest groups" have filed suit against the Army Corps of Engineers, claiming that the Corps used misleading figures and "bait and switch" tactics when seeking money from Congress for proposed dams and other water projects.

The National Wildlife Federation, National Taxpayers Union, Sierra Club, West Virginia Highlands Conservancy and Upper West Fork Watershed Association of Weston, W. Va., filed the suit.

The suit alleges that the Corps misrepresented the project the Corps has misrepresented to Congress. According to the suit, filed in the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia, the Corps "customarily":

1. Makes significant changes in a project without asking Congress for reauthorization, violating the 1899 Rivers and Harbors Appropriation Act.

2. Applies an artificially low interest rate to its projects, distorting their cost-benefit justification, said to be a violation of the Water Resources Development Act.

3. Counts "pollution dilution" benefits for water quality that have not been certified by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, allegedly a violation of the 1972 amendments to the Clean Water Act.

The suit asks the court to ensure that the Corps stays within the bounds of its authority, and to issue a preliminary injunction against further construction of the Stonewall Jackson Lake Project until the lawsuit is settled.

In their suit, the plaintiffs note that Stonewall Jackson was authorized in 1966 as a "multipurpose project for water quality control, flood protection, water supply and recreation." It originally would have displaced 800 people, taking 9,925 acres of land.

The current plan, says the suit, calls for displacing 1,800 people and taking 20,289 acres—including "4,700 acres of cropland, 2,800 acres of wildlife habitat, 2,700 acres of pasture, and 35 miles of free-flowing streams."

In addition, says the suit, Congress authorized "rustic" recreational activities at Stonewall Jackson, such as boating, fishing and hiking. The plan now includes a "sophisticated" resort, condominium complex, with a golf course, clubhouse, restaurant, snackbar, tennis courts and indoor recreation center.

The suit contends that "75 percent of the recreational activity projected by the Corps does not even require a reservoir. In other words, the Corps pulled a bait-and-switch on Congress; it asked for a flood control and water quality project and has now designed a recreation monstrosity."

The Corps also failed to obtain EPA approval of the water quality benefits it claimed for the project, the suit alleges.

Stonewall Jackson is not an exceptional case, according to Patrick Parenteau, attorney for the National Wildlife Federation.

"Time and again, we have seen the Corps underestimate the costs and exaggerate the benefits when seeking Congressional approval for a water project. Then the Corps often makes such major changes that an entirely new project is created."

"It's reached the point where there's a Stonewall Jackson hiding in nearly every Corps District, all hoodlums from a day of free-wheeling federal spending."

ARREST AT HOME

James Hill Jr., 19, of 4901 Kirkpatrick Homes, was arrested at his home at 5:25 p.m. Thursday on a warrant for aggravated assault. He allegedly aimed a handgun at Bruce Oliver, 2030 Grand Ave., at Hill's home earlier Thursday during a disagreement. Hill's bond was set at $3,000 and he was held in the Granite City Jail.

INJURES KNEE

Dorothy Kelly, 47, of 1908 Fifth St., Madison, suffered pain to her left knee and the thumb of her left hand during a weekend auto accident. She sought treatment at St. Elizabeth Medical Center and was released after X-rays were taken.

HEADACHE BALL DEMOLISHES a former tavern at 1334 Madison Ave., Madison last week. The land and building were purchased by Lee and Andy's Auto Repair. The auto repair firm plans to use the 60x125 foot lot for additional parking space. The auto repair firm has been located at 1330 Madison Ave., since 1957 and has expanded the building and parking area several times.

Roller skating injuries rising

Roller skating has surpassed skateboarding, both in popularity, though that also may be true, but in the number of reported accidents, says the Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC).

At least half of all roller skating injuries are suffered by teenagers, and over two-thirds of the injuries are to girls and women. In contrast, more skateboard accidents occur to boys and men.

One-third of the injuries involved minor scrapes and bruises, while two-thirds were more serious fractures and sprains. Ankles, wrists and other joints were the most frequently injured.

The National Safety Council quotes a doctor who says 85,103 skaters were seen in emergency rooms in the first nine months of 1979. According to the doctor, the most common injury was a fractured wrist and the second most common was a wrist sprain.

The CPSC says injuries are typically suffered when persons try to break a fall. Instead of breaking the fall, they break a bone.

Ordie Hogsett, University of Illinois Extension safety specialist, offers the following advice to would-be skaters:

—Wear protective padding on elbows, knees and wrists. Make sure the wrist guards are made of a material that can absorb the impact of a fall; don't just wear a thin wristband.

—When falling, try to land on flesh or muscle rather than bones or joints. —Fall in a relaxed rather than stiffened posture. —Skate on smooth surfaces and watch for stones, twigs, broken cement or other rough spots. Consumers can call the CPSC's toll-free hotline, 800-638-3326.

Council to meet Monday

The Granite City Council for Gifted Children will meet Monday, May 19, from 7 to 8 p.m., at Parkway School, 3200 Maryville Road.

A general meeting will be held with special emphasis on election of next year's officers and voting on recommended changes in the constitution and bylaws of the council.

The program to be presented for parents will be directed by Jim VeLeonardis, social worker for the school district. Small discussion groups will be formed, followed by a general question and answer period concerning any problems with gifted child parenting. Identified gifted students will be included in a special program of creative dramatics headed by Shirley Stoll, speech teacher at Coolidge Junior High School.

Creek pleads guilty to reckless homicide charge

Jimmy L. Creek, 43, of the 3000 block of East 29th Street, is to be sentenced June 6 after being found guilty by a jury in Madison County Circuit Court Friday of reckless homicide and driving while under the influence of alcohol in connection with the fatal accident Nov. 19, 1978, in which Mrs. Faye Agnes Lee, 64, of Kaseberg Park, Pontoon Beach, was killed. The accident was on Route 162 a half-mile east of State Aid Route 35. State troopers alleged Creek's auto crossed the center line and collided head-on with the auto of David Lee, 23, son of the victim. Mrs. Lee was killed and three persons, including the drivers, were injured. Charges against Creek were dismissed by Associate Judge P. J. O'Neill after troopers failed to attend preliminary hearings held two weeks apart.

However, a grand jury reindicted Creek in February, 1979 on the charges and reinstated the bond of $50,000 against him. Judge Mosele presided at the trial, which ended with the guilty verdict Friday.

CYCLIST IS HURT

Garden club is blue ribbon club

The Gardeners Garden Club met at the home of Mrs. Leo Schank last week for an afternoon meeting. After a dessert lunch, Mrs. Schank, who is the club's president, conducted a business meeting.

Plans were made to attend the annual workshop of District V in Trenton, which is being held today. Also reservations were taken for the Rose Luncheon, sponsored by the Edwardsville Garden Club to be held June 5.

The president announced the following appointments, Mrs. Al Tarpoft, conservation chairman, and Mrs. Charles Kohl, publicity chairman. During the business meeting Mrs. Robert Hintz reported on the Illinois State convention of Garden Clubs she had attended in Chicago last month. At the awards banquet she accepted a blue rosette, which signified the club had met the requirements to be called a blue ribbon club.

It was at this banquet an announcement was made that the Gardeners club year book for 1979-80 had been sent to the National Council of State Garden Clubs, as an entry by the state. The club was presented a green rosette for this honor.

Committee chairmen reporting were, Mrs. William Long, chairman of the mini-garden center, who said the current display featured container gardening, and Mrs. Roy Hornmann, horticulture chairman, who gave some hints on planting seeds. The program for the day was given by C. E. Eads, who spoke about Wilson Park. Mrs. Eads shared with the members a 1952 copy of the picture section of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat which featured Wilson Park, and paid special tribute to the late Ernst Sieveking and the part Mrs. Sieveking had in developing the park. He designed and executed formal beds of foliage plants in the European manner. A favorite material of that time was the common "Joseph's Coat" plant. Mrs. Eads exhibited several varieties of alternanthera plants which have been developed in later years, and are used in gardens of this type.

At the conclusion of the program a club plant sale was held. Mrs. Hintz, ways and means chairman, was in charge of this project. Other members present at the meeting included: Mrs. Mary Kristian, Mrs. Richard Kerch and Mrs. John Farrell of Alton.

Church fights hunger with 'love loaf' gifts

A "quiet miracle" has been unfolding in Nameok Presbyterian Church in Granite City during the past few months, church members are convinced.

"And now," says Pastor Don Pierson, "the miracle begins for many hungry families in Third World countries."

"Love loaves," small loaf-shaped styrene containers filled with dimes, quarters, and dollars, were the means to the miracle.

Families in the church had placed the loaf containers on their dinner tables as prayer reminders of the project, and each member of the family was encouraged to contribute coins toward hunger relief.

"This is the fourth year we've placed the loaf containers in this program," added the Rev. Pierson, "and something tremendous happens within our church each time."

"We've really experienced the joy that the loving sacrifice of giving can bring. And it's made us all more aware of how we can respond as Christians in a hungry world."

Ali Baba and the 40 thieves come to life here

PEOPLE

Press-Record photo feature pictures and text by Mick Strange

The age-old fable "Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves" came to life last week at the Madison-Venice Rotary Club meeting as Venice third grade students acted out the story, complete with hand-made scenery and costumes.

Working with the children from Venice were faculty members Sina

Reeves, Hattie Utley and Annetta Ohlendorf. Mrs. Anna M. Spencer is the Venice elementary principal. Rotarian Robert Vickers, superintendent of schools in Venice, arranged for the program.

Walker, Rebecca Harshaw, Deitra Ball, Marilyn Malherek and Uhura Brim-mage.

Youth to collect in mental health drive

The Rev. Pat Fife of the Pontoon Baptist Church announced Monday that 10 to 15 Bellringer workers will go house-to-house during May collecting for mental health.

The Rev. Fife is Bellringer chairman for the drive benefiting the Mental Health Association in Illinois. As a volunteer agency, the association works on behalf of the mentally and emotionally disturbed and works to promote mental health.

Rev. Fife said, The association is not a state agency and so exists entirely on private contributions such as funds collected in the Bellringer drive, he said.

The Rev. Fife noted that one of four families is affected by mental illness, and that an estimated 75 percent of those who attempt suicide are seriously depressed. Mental illness is America's most costly health problem, he said.

Bellringer workers collecting in Pontoon Beach are youth from the Pontoon Baptist Church. They will collect from 1:30 to 5 p.m. on Sunday, May 18.

Hammond leading horse race trainer

By JOHN SCULLY
In recent weeks Dave Gall has been receiving wide acclaim for his riding talents. The attention that he has received has been long overdue.

However, another man, Everett Hammond, goes quietly along in the same manner that has made him one of the leading trainers in the nation for over a decade. While Dave Gall was topping the national riding standings last year, Hammond was second in the trainers' standings.

Hammond is the perennial leader at Fairmount Park and, in fact, won the national title in 1967 while winning 200 races, 67 less than he had last year.

In the first weeks of the 1980 season, he is averaging two wins per program, to move to a commanding lead in the local standings. To be sure, he had plenty of horses. Last year, his charges started 1,570 times, reaching the winner's circle 17 percent of the time.

Besides being a top trainer, he also is astute when it comes to reading a condition book. He knows what types of races his horses belong in and does not make the mistake of many trainers by entering a horse over its head.

In all of his years of training, he has seldom had a top horse, with possibly the best being Jovial John from several years ago. Last year, "Hambone" won 100 races in the 99 nights of racing. This year, he has started off with an average of two wins per night.

No one believes that such a pace as that can be maintained throughout the 100 programs at Fairmount Park, but an average of 1 1/2 per night may not be unrealistic.

Who knows? Maybe Fairmount Park will have the honor of having both the leading trainer and jockey in the nation this year.

41 new buses, option for 95

James S. Nations, acting chairman of the Bi-State Development Agency board, has announced that Bi-State will purchase 41 new buses from General Motors of Canada, Limited.

Included in the contract is an option to purchase an additional 95 buses, making a total of 136.

The amount of the contract for 136 buses is approximately $17.5 million, with 90 percent of the funds provided by the Urban Mass Transportation Administration. The 95 optional buses are awaiting UMTA approval of grant requests now in process.

Charles G. Houghton, Bi-State executive director, emphasized that "this purchase exemplifies our efforts to save dollars and to get the most for our money."

"It also is in line with our plans to standardize the fleet and upgrade service for our passengers. These federal funds can only be used for capital purchases; they cannot be used for any other purpose, such as operating the bus system."

The general manager of transit, Bill Wilson, said, "In an effort to save money and utilize expertise already on hand, we are buying the less expensive 'new look' bus, which is the same General Motors model we now have in operation."

"These buses have performed well here and we know exactly what we will receive for our money. Plus, our mechanics and drivers are fully trained to maintain and operate them without any further expenditure of time or money."

General Motors of Canada is the only firm now producing this model, and was the only respondent to our sealed bid request.

"Because the 'new look' bus is less expensive than some models, Bi-State will be able to buy 10 extra buses for the same price we had originally expected to buy only 120 buses."

"Of the 136 buses," Wilson concluded, "101 are replacements for worn-out buses, and the other 35 will provide expansion capability."

Delivery time on the new buses is approximately one year.

GRANITE CITY (III), PRESS-RECORD, Thursday, May 15, 1980 — 21

By TOM SCHOCKER
For the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — Scoring runs requires good hitting. The Granite City North Steelers have good hitting and consequently they score runs. In fact the majority of their victories, 19 in all, have been by sizeable margins. This is accomplished primarily by the red hot bat of Bob Batey and the ever present power lumber of Bob Ford. Just to name a few.

But one of the no-name hitters will loom large in the minds of the O'Fallon Panthers. The Steelers pounded out 11 hits against O'Fallon Tuesday. However, it wasn't the usual power swingers that produced the offense enabling North to top the Panthers 9-2. It was a pitcher.

And who said a pitcher couldn't hit? Let it be known that Greg Faulkner is not your ordinary run of the mill hurler. "He really pitched a super game," said Steeler head coach Bob Stegemeier. "It was good to see Greg have a game like this." In addition to pitching a masterful game, a three hitter, Faulkner also batted out two hits, driving in three runs and sparking North to its 19th victory against seven defeats.

Now, just because the Steelers won going away, don't think they had a duck. O'Fallon came in with a respectable 17-7 mark. "They are a strong team," said Stegemeier. "Coach Hodgdon said that they have been really ripping the ball lately." However, Faulkner's performance couldn't have been any more complete. It was like a one-man show. His first and foremost duty though, was on the mound. Probably underestimating the Panthers, the opening two innings proved costly. "I don't know what the story was," said Stegemeier. "We played terrible. We gave them everything they wanted." Faulkner and the Steeler defense did give O'Fallon every opportunity, but the Panthers were unable to capitalize on the generous offerings.

Failing to get the needed back-up support from his mates, Faulkner suffered a shaky first inning. A pair of errors resulted in a Panther run. The following frame had similar consequences but the burly righthander lent a hand in the misdoings. Three miscues and a walk loaded the bases and Faulkner couldn't pull the trigger. Giving the Panther batter a free pass, the Steelers slow start began to get out of hand. O'Fallon had drawn a 2-0 advantage. "I thought it was contagious," said Stegemeier. "We had errors from third, short and second. I was looking to see (Dennis) Page catch what ever it was."

The Steelers regained some confidence in their half of the second, thanks to Panther hurler Barry Smith. Returning the favor, he walked Dan Patterson and Ron Pinkston. Cooking his own goose, Smith tossed a hard to handle pitch, which eluded catcher Tom Tribout and Pinkston trotted home. In fact Tribout had a rough time behind the plate all afternoon. Using a gusty wind in their favor, the Steelers swiped five bases.

Batey was the biggest culprit stealing second and third. "Wanted to run today," said Stegemeier. "I think we have to run to be effective." Getting on the scoreboard was all Faulkner and North needed. O'Fallon managed two hits in the next five innings. Faulkner fanned four batters while the Steelers defense backed him with outstanding support. Catcher Daren DeFew's strong arm gunned down a possible scoring threat in the fourth. While leftfielder Rick Buer exhibited a shot gun throw, failing a Panther runner at first in the sixth. "I got to pitch against Belleville over the weekend," said Faulkner, "and I was

Warriors Gateway East champions . . .

No crowd, but good tennis

By KEVIN ALLEN
of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — Where was the crowd? Didn't anyone know about Granite City South's tennis team? Here they were, conference champs — record of 7-0 in the Gateway East, in fact — and 16-4 overall. But they toiled away against Edwardsville, yesterday, winning 5-2, and nobody was around to see it.

It probably doesn't matter much, though. The Warriors would most likely be the same — that is to say, good — if a handful of people noticed or if the courts were lined with spectators.

A big crowd doesn't matter much anyway, right?

"Let's just say," the Warriors' number two singles player Tom Longos said, "it would be different."

"Yeah," Warrior Don Cook chimed in. "We've only got a few loyal fans. And they're either parents or coaches." Not one with tall, dark, country-club good looks among the bunch.

But can they play tennis. Ask the Edwardsville team. The Warriors won't win any beauty contests, but the Tigers can attest to the fact that South can win.

After the first set of matches were over yesterday, the Warriors led the Tigers 3-2. The Warriors had beaten Edwardsville in second singles, where Longos had beaten Ken Shaw, 6-3, 6-3; in third singles, where George Sykes defeated Tim Mackie, 7-6, 6-2; and in fourth singles, where John Menendez downed John Hatfield, 6-1, 6-1.

The Warriors had lost in first singles where Jeff Dudaek beat Ed Schmbach, 6-3, 6-3; and in third doubles, where Pat Theis and Don Cook lost to Scott Shaw and Ken Weber, 0-6, 6-4, 6-2.

"We might be in trouble," South coach Dick Harmon lamented at the time. "We just clinched the conference title last night against Cahokia and we might be letting down here. Edwardsville has something to play for."

If the Tigers would have won, there would have been a tie in the conference for second place between Edwardsville and Cahokia.

But in the second set of matches, South retained its undefeated status and made Edwardsville settle for third place in the GEC.

South's number one doubles team of Sykes and Menendez dusted off the Tigers' Dudaek and Ken Shaw, 7-5, 6-0.

Then, as if to sort of round things off, South's number two doubles team of Tony Malench and Schmbach — he of the dark glasses — wound up the match by defeating Edwardsville's Mackie and Dale Oberling, 6-4, 5-7, 6-3.

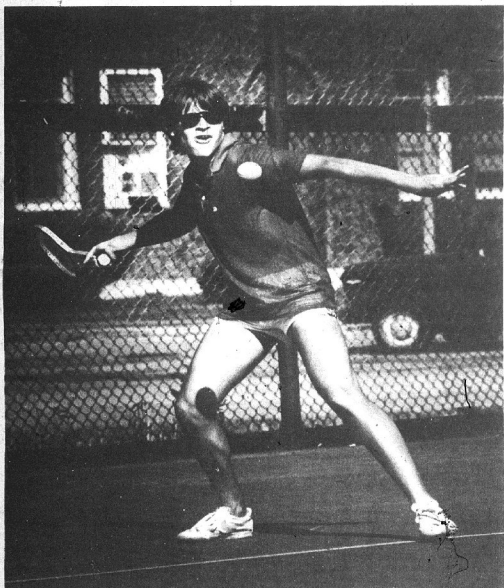

South remained undefeated in the conference, dirty shoes and all.

The only problem is hardly anyone noticed. Just for the record, here's some things that should be noted:

For starters, there's the coach. In a long career at South, Dick Harmon has quietly gone about putting together a winning tradition that is surpassed maybe only by the wrestling team at the school.

Because of his mild-mannered approach, though, Harmon's achievements

ED SCHMBACH of the Granite South tennis team returns a serve yesterday during dual action against Edwardsville. Schmbach plays number one singles for the Warriors, who won the Gateway East Conference championship with an 8-0 loop mark.

Farrow top choice

EDWARDSVILLE — Tennis fans can see all four sessions of the 18th annual National Collegiate Athletic Association's Division II tournament for $6, it was announced today by Ed Bigham, acting athletic director at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, host of the May 15-18 meet.

The tournament, which has drawn a field of 21 schools on the basis of their just completed seasons, will get underway tomorrow (Thursday) morning at 8 o'clock and conclude Sunday around noon. Singles competition, involving a draw of 64 of the nation's top collegiate players, is scheduled first, and doubles play will start at 3:30 p.m. Thursday.

Each day's play is considered a session. Tickets for the entire tournament are $4 for students and $6 for adults. Adults can buy a session ticket for $2, while students with identification can purchase a day's ticket for $1. The tournament will be played on the Cougars' six new courts in the central campus area, adjacent to the Bubble Gym.

SIUE is the defending champion and will be seeking the championship for the third straight year. Carrying much of the load for that hope is SIUE's four-time All-American and junior Davis Cup star, Juan Farrow of St. Louis.

Farrow won the national crown as a freshman at San Diego when he paced the Cougars to their second-place finish that year.

The following year, Farrow repeated and the Cougars won the team title.

Trojans prepare for state

CHARLESTON — For five members of the Madison High School girls track team, this weekend is just a little more important than most.

Madison's Veronica Williams, Terri Smith, Gloria McNeil, Veronica Borney, Jerianne Ware and Terri Smith will be participating in the 3rd two-class Illinois High School Association Girls' State Track and Field Meet at Eastern Illinois University here. Williams' specialty is the shot put, Smith runs the 200 meter dash and is a leg (along with McNeil, Borney and Ware, on the Lady Trojans' 400 and 400 meter relay teams).

Defending champions Mahomet-Seymour and East St. Louis (Lincoln), in their respective classes, rate among the favorites when 1,152 athletes from 353 schools converge on O'Brien Stadium on the campus of Eastern Illinois.

Mahomet-Seymour, winner of the Class A crown (for schools with enrollments of 750 or less) last spring, boasts an outstanding sprinter in Sharon Farley, the district leader in qualifying times in both the 100 and 200-meter dashes, and an outstanding hurdler in Junior Bonnie Byers, who ranks among the top three in both the 100 and 200-meter low hurdle races. East St. Louis (Lincoln), winner of the Class AA title (for schools with enrollments of 751 or more) last spring boasts a bevy of talent including Jackie Joyner, the defending long jump champion and state record holder.

Making (or breaking) of a Big Red free agent

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

ST. CHARLES, Mo. — Tom Schooley looked pretty good. He was tired, but not exhausted. He had just put in a hard workout, running zig-zags and ins and outs and fly patterns. He didn't look bad at all, considering he hadn't done that sort of thing in over a year and a half.

Schooley, a 1976 graduate of Granite City South, was just finishing the final workout at the St. Louis Football Cardinals' rookie-free agent "mini camp" at Lindenwood College in St. Charles, Wednesday afternoon. The purpose of the camp was to let the Big Red coaching staff know exactly what the draft choices could do or not do. And to "seek out new life" for the team among the raw meat free agents that were invited or wandered into camp.

'They just care about what you can do ...'

Schooley was a free agent wide receiver from the University of Illinois. But he knew his chances were slim. You see, he quit the team in the middle of the 1979 season at Illinois. Even though he was the leading receiver for the Illini and was respected throughout the Big Ten, he quit. Because Illini head coach Gary Moeller didn't throw the ball. He almost NEVER threw the ball. Schooley felt like the loneliest guy in town.

The Big Red had two-a-day workouts Monday and Tuesday and a single session Wednesday at Lindenwood, their home away from home. Schooley was there for all of them.

He had asked the team about trying out. "I sent out the feelers," he said. "Then (they (the Cardinals) got my stats from Illinois and then they invited me to camp."

Schooley didn't think the long layoff hurt him too much. "I keep in shape," the 6'4", 220-pounder said. "I've been running about four miles a day and playing basketball. But it hurt my pattern running the first day, I think. But today, I think I can run well."

"I haven't been catching the ball real well, but nobody has been."

Schooley spoke the truth. Many times, it wasn't the fault of the receivers. The ball was just poorly thrown. "I think I can run the patterns as well as anybody. And I don't think the coaches here look at the fact that I quit at Illinois. They only really care about what you can do. It's what you do here in camp that makes the difference."

But Schooley may have picked one of the hardest positions to break into on the Cardinals. "They have a lot of wide receivers," he said. "Of course, there's (Mel)

Gray and (Pat) Tilley. And Jim (Butt) ... But I can just do my best and hope for the best." Schooley's 4.5 speed in the 40 won't hurt him!

The players in the camp stay at a motel nearby for the duration of the workouts. One of Schooley's roommates was an old friend and foe, Quarterback Rusty Litsch, the Cardinals' third-round draft choice from Notre Dame, went to Belleville West. "Rusty and I are good friends," said Schooley. "We played basketball and football against each other in high school. I think he's got a darn good chance of making the team. He's been throwing the ball real well and he can run. He can run about as well as he can throw."

If Schooley "makes it," it will mean only that he will be invited back to the Cardinals' regular training camp later this summer. "That's all I can hope for right now," said Schooley. "I've given it a good shot." Is there a difference between coaching staffs in the Big Ten and in the pros? "A lot of difference," he said. "Here, the coaches are loose. In college, they have you where they want you. They can yank a scholarship pretty fast. But here, they expect you to do your job, and that's that."

Harry Gilmer, the Big Red's receivers' coach, is the one Schooley had the most contact with. "The coaches here have a good relationship with the players in camp. (Head coach Jim) Hanifan is real well-liked. I don't know much about his total system, but I think with some time, he can turn things around here."

Hanifan was hired during the current off-season after former head coach Bud Wilkinson quit in the middle of the 1979 season.

'I gave it a good shot'

Schooley did mention one thing that his layoff may have effected. "I don't think my legs are in as good a shape as they should be. But they didn't hurt me too much." He has had a tendency, both at Granite South and at Illinois, of being fairly injury-free. The only mar on the record was a broken foot his freshman year at Illinois.

If he makes it, or doesn't make it with the Big Red, Schooley won't be hurting. He graduated early from the U of I in December and has applied to four law schools. (His father, William Schooley, is a Granite City attorney.) While waiting for word from the law schools, Tom has a job with the Madison County Supervisor of Assessments Office.

"It's been fun, it really has," said Schooley. "The reception we've gotten has been real good. There hasn't been anything we've done that I haven't looked forward to."

Local archers take aim on 'wild' creatures

By KEVIN ALLEN
of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — The first time Phyllis Lane shot a deer with a bow and arrow, she knew she had made a mistake.

"It was quite a while ago," Lane remembers. "It was a doe, and I just nicked it under the neck. Right then I knew what I had to do. I was determined I was going to get better so that would never happen again."

So, after years of practice and success, both in hunting and in archery competitions, Lane has gone beyond that lesson with her first deer. Now that she is attempting to spread her enthusiasm to growing numbers of archers, Lane's determination for accuracy and humanness in bow hunting are central to her goal.

In March, Lane opened

Lane's Archery, a bow and arrow pro shop and archery range, located on State St. in downtown Granite City. The shop was the culmination of years of interest in archery by Lane and her family.

The blue-carpeted, wood-paneled front half of the building is the pro shop area. Behind a counter elaborate-looking bows and arrows are displayed.

But the rear half of the building is transformed into a rock forest, complete with foliage, rocks and stumps, and wild game. At least that's the desired effect.

"We operate a lot like a bowling alley," Lane explains as she tends to straightening arrows bent by the busy archers in her back room. "We try to set things up so people will be shooting in the kind of surroundings they would find in the woods."

To do that, the archery range is lined in back with assorted targets of rabbits, deer, bear, and other wildlife. Archers shoot from one of six different stations, divided into lanes, which call for a variety of positions.

At one lane, for example, a sign instructs the archer to stand perpendicular to the target. He must, in order to even see the target clearly between the jumble of potted tree branches and leaves in his way, arch his back and hold the bow at almost arms length.

"We try to keep changing things around," Lane said. "Because in the woods you hardly ever get a clear shot. We want to keep it challenging."

In order to maintain that kind of challenge, Lane has organized teams that compete in a league. Much like the bowling format, the archers keep an average of their weekly scores in order to determine the leading shooters in the league.

Last Tuesday, about 15 archers were at the range, busily firing, and occasionally bending, arrows in the simulated forest.

Lyndia Lane, Phyllis' daughter, was more or less in charge of the competition, although the atmosphere in the place was informal. Almost everyone used first names exclusively.

With a signal from the whistle Lyndia wore around her neck the archers moved en masse toward the targets to retrieve their arrows.

Lyndia moved with them, checking targets and picking up loose arrows, as she explained the scoring procedure.

"If you get the arrow in the small circle here," she said indicating a shot up picture of a fox, "you get six points that's called the kill zone. If you get in this larger circle here you get two points."

Anything on the animal outside the circle would be a wound, so that's minus two points. Anything off the target is minus one point."

Each archer gets three shots at each station. The total of the three is calculated for a score. A game consists of nine arrows. A perfect score is 270 points. There are 45 arrows shot in the course of competition.

"We stress accuracy," Phyllis Lane said. "That's why we take points off for a wound."

Even so, not everyone at the range is deadly with the bow. But Stull, a resident of Roxana, is a member of the Whitetail Archery Club in Godfrey. On this night Stull was having his share of problems.

"Our club is an outdoor one," Stull said as awaited his turn at the target. "But I joined here to try some new things. I used to shoot with a pin sight. But this summer I decided to try to shoot without it. This is a place where you can experiment with that kind of thing."

"It's frustrating though, when you know you could shoot the daylight out those targets and you end up with a bunch of misses."

Stull said membership at the range included, those experienced like himself all the way to beginners.

All though have one thing in common — an interest in bow hunting.

There's a true from management on down. "I've been hunting quite a while now," Phyllis Lane said. "I've killed two or three deer and my husband killed a wild boar once."

In addition, the Lanes compete in state and national archery com-

Student fee hikes

Increases in the Athletic Fee and the Publications and Student Medical Benefit subfees of the Student Welfare and Activity Fee at SIUE have been approved by the SIUE Board of Trustees.

The increases, effective in the fall quarter, are needed to maintain stable levels of operation in the face of inflationary and enrollment decline pressures, the board was told.

The increase in the Athletic Fee is $1 across-the-board for all hours categories of enrollment. Currently, the fee is $18 per quarter for full-time students, $6 per quarter for students taking one to five hours, and $12 for students enrolled for six to 11 hours.

University officers said the $1 increase will permit the athletics program to continue without eliminating any sports presently offered.

But, "considerable economies will need to be implemented, including possible revision of completion schedules for various sports to reduce the number of events, and consolidation of administrative aspects of similar sports programs such as track and cross-country," they said.

The Publications subfee supports publication of The Alestle, the student newspaper at SIUE. The increase is 35 cents per quarter for the lowest hours category and 30 cents per quarter for all other students.

The increase will permit publication of two issues of The Alestle per week during the academic year and one issue per week during the summer quarter.

Fee up for all students

The increase in the University Center fee at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, effective in the summer quarter, is a $7 across-the-board increase for all students.

Currently, the fee is $25.50 per quarter for full-time students, $18.50 for students taking one to five hours, and $22 for students enrolled for six to 11 hours.

The Center operation has been affected by increases in salaries and wages, inflationary increases in other operating costs, and enrollment declines which have caused a reduction in fee revenues.

The Center also will be affected during the coming year by a reduction in tuition revenues previously retained to support it. During the 1980-81 fiscal year, the center's operating budget will lose $82,000 in retained tuition funds.

In addition, the University Center renovation project currently in progress will increase the amount of "square" footage which is heavily utilized in the building, causing an increase in operating costs, officials say. As a portion of the renovation, a $60,000 media equipment library is planned.

Part of the inflationary pressures will be offset by increases in rental payments to the Center for space used for administrative purposes, and a projected increase in operating revenues from areas now being renovated.

Acting President Earl Lazerson has directed the management of the University Center to conduct an in-depth analysis of the entire operation, including "an assessment of the role within the university community which the Center has played and should play."

The study will address types and levels of Center services, costs involved, and revenue sources.

"Such an assessment will provide a more solid basis on which to evaluate future service and revenue needs of the Center and appropriate ways of accumulating them," Lazerson said.

Buffet for nurse graduating class

June candidates for graduation in nursing at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will be guests Sunday, May 18, at a buffet at Rusty's in Edwardsville. Hosting the event is the SIUE School of Nursing Constituent Society, whose president is Karen Jones of St. Louis.

A social hour will begin at 5 p.m., with the buffet at 5:30.

Speakers on "Reality Shock—Burnout: Is There an Alternative?" will be Mary Anne Wehrle, a graduate of the SIUE School of Nursing's initial class, 1966, and Valerie Walsh, one of last year's graduates.

Miss Wehrle, a member of the SIUE Alumni Association board of directors, is surgical service supervisor at the John Cochran Division of the St. Louis Veterans' Administration Medical Center. Miss Walsh is a member of the nursing staff at Mersey Hospital in Urbana.

CUB PACK 22 TO HOLD FUND RAISERS

Cub Pack 22, sponsored by Frohardt School PTA, will hold two fund raising activities Saturday. Both events will take place from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m.

A bake sale is planned at the Village Belle Shopping Center and a father and son car wash will be held simultaneously at Bob's Shell Station, 2701 Pontoon Road.

Prices at the car wash will be $2 for autos and $2.50 for vans, a pack officer said.

Nameoki School celebration set

Nameoki School will observe the 50th anniversary of the school at special activities planned for Friday, May 16 to begin at 1 p.m. with a decorated bicycle parade.

All past and present students, teachers, parents, PTA officers and area residents are invited to attend the day long affair, according to Mrs. June Branding, PTA president. Afternoon games are planned for both adults and children and a hot air balloon exhibition is also scheduled. Live band music will begin at 3 p.m. and the Senior Citizen Kitchen Band will perform at 5 p.m. Introduction of dignitaries is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. Mrs. Branding stressed that each person should bring a lawn chair for the afternoon program.

Students present musical program

Fifty-three students at Niedringhaus School presented a musical program at the monthly PTA meeting. The program began with Mrs. Edwards' second grade class singing holiday songs and "All Around The Kitchen" from the Moving To Music unit.

Mrs. Lawrence's fourth grade class joined the group singing one solo piece followed by both groups singing all two-part songs. The children's general music teacher, Miss Patricia Dineff, explained to the parents the accomplishments of both groups. "The fourth graders carry their part alone about 90 percent of the time. Seldom does the piano duplicate the fourth graders' part. For them to carry their part alone requires great concentration. Likewise the second graders must concentrate on their melody while hearing another part sung simultaneously. Usually second graders cannot handle two-part songs because of their difficulty," she said.

The children repeated the program for the school assembly the following week.

Those participating were: Jason Bergsneider, March Borth, Jason Buettner, Janis Burkhardt, Mark Crum, Julie Dempsey, Kerin Dippel, Jason Fields, Ronald Fields, Kathy Grimes, Traci Henn, Erika Hubert, Jennifer Jerrell, Andrew Karanjef, Deanna Kopsky, Chad Lignoul, Joey Lombardi, David Morgan, Stacy Peters, Dana Pickard, Tom Senecyn, Christina Talley, Teresa Toyoda, Eric Warnhoff, Brett Wickman and Jeffrey Wierhardt, all in the second grade. ## Class size compromise may be key step in bringing Belleville Area College costs, income into a balance

There is considerable interest here in the progress of Belleville Area College (Illinois Community College District 522) not only because it is one of the local taxing districts but also because of the scope of its programs in the Quad-City area.

Of the 750 courses being conducted at BAC satellite centers this spring, 116 are being taught in the night program at Granite City High School South, 25 in the daytime college center at Washington School in Granite City and 11 in the night program at Madison High School—a total of 150 or one fifth.

With this background in mind, Quad-Cityans will be among those paying close attention to the district's efforts to avoid financial deficits, maintain faculty morale and, wherever possible and reasonable, bolster present efficiency and productivity.

Helping the college relay information and opinions to the public will be a citizen panel created by the BAC board this spring to study facts, trends and proposals.

Study groups within the citizen advisory committee have commented that a property tax increase would be unlikely to attract sufficient public support; that gradual tuition increases will have to be considered; that general studies charges perhaps should be set at a level that fully meets the cost of such non-degree courses; and that it would be worthwhile to explore potential administrative and faculty productivity gains, including larger class sizes in some instances.

Other thoughts expressed included elimination of any unnecessary instructional programs, establishment of cost controls to offset inflation, stepped-up efforts to obtain higher state funding of community colleges, additional ways of financing senior citizen programs, and intensified recruiting of students.

Faculty members have cited the non-classroom work required of teachers, and have emphasized the link between class size and teaching effectiveness. They have defended equated workloads (in effect since 1970) as justified in view of the time required for class preparation, grading, conferences, study aids, etc.

Such points need to be taken into account, since BAC's philosophy is "concerned primarily with the individual, to whom we owe our instruction and our constructive evaluation but also respect, guidance, and stimulation in the achievement of mutual objectives."

A possible middle ground on future class size policies might come from the 1972 statistical averages derived from start-of-term enrollment limits and actual mid-term student participation. Judging by the latter figures, both sides' studies indicate that some larger classes could be handled without loss of teaching quality and educational excellence.

Salary cuts seem unrealistic in view of the inflation faced by the BAC staff. But if pay decreases are ruled out, the door must not be slammed simultaneously on all creative ideas regarding use of personnel and facilities. Some of the departments already have suggested procedural changes, for evaluation and possible implementation.

The citizen committee and Belleville Area College board may be right in not rushing to a tax hike at this time, but the Faculty Senate takes an interesting position on that point:

"In the face of the low tax rate, low assessed valuation and only slightly above-average tuition, it would seem that BAC's boards, administration and faculty of the past 15 years are to be commended for the number of faculty and administration that has operated 'in the black' and at a below-average unit cost."

"In the face of spiraling inflation, our present board and administration are faced with a situation not of their making, and out of their control. Just as obviously, one solution is to cut costs by reducing the number of faculty and administration, eliminating programs, cutting employee salaries and increasing tuition."

"Consider whether any of these is in the long-range best interest of the college. At best, they are but limited and temporary solutions to a long-range problem. Clearly, a referendum is long overdue."

"We would urge the citizen committee and board not to reject a tax referendum out of hand, nor assume that a referendum would be the best solution. We believe the citizens of the district are responsible and that they appreciate the importance of the college to the area. Thousands of them have passed through its classrooms."

"We think that if they had the facts, they would approve a referendum. We think they at least deserve the chance to be heard. Further, we of the faculty pledge our wholehearted assistance in such a project."

Myths put a burden on the profit mechanism that keeps U.S. going

To the Editor: The Press-Record bought a misbegotten release from the Illinois AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education, and thereby helped to perpetuate some of the mythology that confuses a public that wants to be confused.

The report, run as a guest editorial, said, "You pay a higher tax rate than any other state because of big oil firms do for us. Congratulations."

Stating the latest available figures are for 1977, it said Exxon paid 7.4 percent, Mobil 2.5 percent, Texaco 6.3 percent, Gulf 6.3 percent, Atlantic Richfield 6.1 percent, Marathon 6.6 percent, Occidental 9 percent and Union (Calif.) 8.1 percent.

AT&T was thrown in for good measure because it is the biggest. The story said AT&T paid a tax rate of only 8 percent.

An article was wrong going in. The latest figures are available on all these companies for 1977, at their broker's offices. Their official annual statements, approved by their outside auditors and members of the Securities and Exchange Commission, give the up-to-date figures.

They do not even vaguely resemble the AFL-CIO's exciting accusation. Figures for 1979 are better because they are current and because they represent the year when many people enjoyed talking about "obscene profits" of oil companies.

In 1979: Exxon paid income taxes of $4,449,000,000 and had a net income after taxes of $4,255,243,000. That's 67 percent of before-tax income of $12,744,000,000. Exxon's income tax expense is split $1,266 billion to the U.S. and $7,183 billion to foreign countries.

Using the U.S. part to find a percentage of net income (both foreign and domestic), the company paid 10 percent in U.S. income taxes.

Mobil paid $4,848,000,000 on before taxes of $6,855,000,000. That's 70 percent. The figure comes into focus when it is realized that only $508,000,000 of the tax was U.S. tax. But all came off the money that could pay dividends or build a new plant.

AT&T paid $1,733,511,000 on net income of $5,874,248,000. That's 29 percent.

Occidental's report doesn't break out income from other taxes. Its total taxes were $1,372,452,000 of which $1,372,452,000 was before those taxes of $1,934,098,000. The percentage of pretax income which went to taxes was 71 percent.

Texaco paid income taxes of $1,707,800,000 on net income of $4,497,300,000. That's 49 percent.

Union paid $447,500,000 income taxes on net income before those taxes of $1,100,000,000. That's 47 percent.

This year, Ford and Chrysler may pay no income taxes, for the simple reason that they are losing money. But any shareholder of any prosperous company knows that his company pays more money in taxes than is left over for dividends, if any.

The federal corporate income tax rate is 46 percent, and though they take advantage of every investment tax credit or other loophole provisions find the government is their biggest profiteer.

Because the myths about American business wind up in legislative halls—half the federal budget is on the mechanism that keeps the whole country going—it is wrong to perpetuate them. KARL L. COLLINSVILLE

Stuckes devoted to good schools

To the Editor: I am writing to The Forum because I am very concerned about all the recent articles and I believe you, the people of the Granite City School District, should also be concerned.

First of all, yes, they are my parents. But they are not the issue or my main reason for writing this letter.

You elected David Partney to the school board. I would assume, to contribute to the betterment of your children's education. That seems to me to be the most important reason to vote for a certain person for a position on the board.

I wonder how many hours Mr. Partney spent on his latest "conflict of interest" as he puts it, accusation against Mr. and Mrs. Don Stucke. I would imagine quite a few.

How trivial can this man be? If only he would spend just half of this time on something positive, such as ways to better your children's education, by trying to think of ways to avoid a teachers' strike just to name a couple, instead of negative, petty things, as in his "conflict of interest" accusation.

I will try not to let my personal feelings enter into this letter. But I happen to know all the time and effort that both of my parents have given to the Granite City School District and they do not deserve this.

So, if you are my parents, but it is your children who will benefit least from this type of pettiness.

Is this really what you elected Mr. Partney to do? CAROLE STUCKE PASHEA Newton, North Carolina

Don't count Anderson out . . .

Election analysis by John Torinus

After an intense week in Washington, D.C., in which I heard presentations by all five current candidates, I received the distinct impression John Anderson was a Republican candidate in November—either as the party's nominee or as an independent. And the latter possibility is greater than the former.

Anderson says a Yankelovich survey reveals that 58 percent of American voters are dissatisfied with either Jimmy Carter or Ronald Reagan in their own alternative choices.

Anderson believes he could wind up as the choice of that currently uncommitted majority.

I would guess that at least that high a percentage of the 700 daily newspaper editors who gathered in Washington the past week for the annual meeting of their society are also undecided over whom they will support next fall.

Like myself, many went to Washington in the hope that the parade of candidates would help them narrow their choice. And also like myself, they returned to their editorial desks as confused as when they left home.

Here are my general impressions of the candidates. GEORGE BUSH made a sound logical presentation, much like those he wound up using in Wisconsin last month, pointing out his specific differences with the other Republican candidates and attacking President Carter on the major domestic and foreign issues—energy and the economy, Iran and Afghanistan.

Bush was upstaged by Carter during his appearance.

The moderator opened the questioning by announcing that word had just been received that Carter had broken off diplomatic relations with Iran and imposed economic sanctions.

Bush had advocated both actions for some weeks, but the announcement left him with only the comment that it was about time Carter did so, and it took something off his appearance before the editors.

My conclusion is that Bush lacks that vague, mystical element called pizzazz. RONALD REAGAN's performance was the most puzzling, leaving many editors shaking their heads.

His speech writers had prepared one of his standard talks, attacking the Carter administration, and he propounded his by now well-known solutions to our major problems—30 percent tax cut over three years, etc.

He suggested we should consider blockading Cuba to get Russia out of Afghanistan, and he said that if he had been president, he would have given the Shah of Iran sufficient support to put down the Khomeini revolution.

Reagan had difficulty reading his prepared remarks, stumbling rather frequently. And he appeared even more uncertain when responding to questions.

I sat there trying to figure out where and how Reagan gets his tremendous appeal. I concluded that he has that element of pizzazz which Bush lacks and that he is telling voters basically what they want to hear—rather simplistic answers to very puzzling questions.

But I really wonder if his campaign can hold together until the convention, or more important, until November.

JOHN ANDERSON filled every seat in the auditorium for his early-morning appearance, and to my mind he was the soundest and most thought-provoking presentation of all.

He came up with some innovative answers to major problems—his 50-50 plan for energy conservation, his suggestion to share oil reserves with our European allies and Japan if they enact sanctions against Iran.

He made one point which all the others ignored—that his record and experience in Congress testify to his ability to get his ideas approved in Congress, and he cited the Udall-Anderson Alaskan lands bill as an example.

Anderson has a vision of a new political coalition in this country, a new politics, he calls it, and he refuses to believe his party or his country will settle for either Carter or Reagan in November.

JIMMY CARTER left the Rose Garden and traveled all the way up Connecticut Avenue to the Washington Hilton to address the editors and it was rather obvious he has been itching to get out on the campaign trail.

In his prepared remarks, dealing solely with foreign affairs, he had very harsh words for the Soviets for their invasion of Afghanistan, and he accused government leaders in Iran of going back on their commitments a number of times during the hostage crisis.

In his responses to questions, Carter became really quite testy, particularly in responses to the suggestion from Ted Kennedy that weakness and vacillation on the part of the Carter administration had encouraged the militants to seize the embassy in Tehran and led the Soviets to invade Afghanistan without risk of retaliation.

In total, Carter's appearance was lackluster. There was no applause at all until he had finished, and then it was merely polite.

He certainly didn't come off as the president of the United States, and as a candidate for re-election he seemed more like a fighter under wraps.

TED KENNEDY appeared in the wind-up spot, and it was a very good performance. Kennedy made an impassioned plea for a return to liberal Democratic Party traditions, and he castigated those who claim a balanced budget, less government and less regulation will solve today's problems.

He came out four-square for gasoline rationing and for a freeze on wages, prices and profits.

Some of his remarks on the economy were identical to those enunciated for us the day before by Lane Kirkland, president of the AFL-CIO.

Kennedy is to be admired for political honesty in holding firm to the ground he has occupied throughout his Senate career.

In essence, he accused Carter of abandoning the principles and traditions of the Democratic Party, and he said that is what motivates him to continue his fight all the way to the Democratic convention.

Most often with whom I talked did not believe Kennedy could win either the nomination or the election with that stance.

Most editors also believed George Bush has run his race and that a Reagan victory in Pennsylvania would finish it off.

So, that leaves Carter and Reagan—and John Anderson out yet.

Expenses are demoralized by the underground economy

to do it if they think they are being treated fairly.

There has been little serious objection in the country even to the progressive income tax system, up until recently, because of a general acceptance of the idea of earners of an obligation to support social welfare systems, for people who are fortunate.

There have always been tax cheaters and there have always been people who have been able to report income because it was earned legally.

What we are seeing now is evasion by a broader class of otherwise law-abiding people and a spreading attitude, dangerous to the fabric of society, that such evasion is justified by modern circumstances.

It is easy to understand how this might be, for one of our past heroes, George Washington, was a tax evader.

Through much of our history, government has engaged in more activities in most of the things it did: the running of schools, maintenance of streets and highways, provision of garbage, provision of military security, controlling street crime.

But as government has engaged in more activities, it has become both more costly and more inefficient. This leads to constantly increasing tax rates.

We have been seeing overt tax rebellions and we will undoubtedly see more.

Ronald Reagan is sweeping the Republican primaries on the basis of a large, across-the-board tax cut.

There is a spreading belief that it might be, or impossible to restore accountability and efficiency through particular means, it just may be possible to do if through denying the government funds.

Jimmy Carter has conducted an ingenious battle to deflect this effort by finding revenue sources that are being indirectly, rather than directly, on the people—the windfall profits tax on oil being the most prominent and remarkable example.

But the answers to the underground economy, and really the only answer, is to get government out of all the things that waste money—manipulating the energy markets, employing people in meaningless jobs, "public service" doles, handing out money to various "poverty" lobbies that perpetuate dependency, funneling vast sums into housing subsidies that mainly serve to benefit builders and construction unions, maintaining a vast army of regulators who mainly serve to gum up normal commerce.

These things can all be done with the proper leadership in Washington.

If they are not done, the nation's honest working people are going to become more and more demoralized and the underground economy will continue to grow.

Without some basic changes, our society is not precisely the opposite.

Scouts gain maturity, high ideals

to the Editor:

I wish to thank you for printing my letter which I wrote to you and your reader concerning the scouting program, especially the Cub Scout program. I wish now, if you would, give me another opportunity to relay an exciting moment that I experienced.

I had the honor to attend an Eagle Scout recognition dinner for nine scouts in the Chokoma Scout Council. This was, I feel, a rewarding moment to see what scouting programs did for these young men.

These young men, most of whom were freshmen and sophomores in high school, portrayed a maturity which was outstanding for their young ages.

Their interests varied greatly but prevailed on the same nine young men will end up to be prominent citizens within their community.

This ceremony and these young men prove to me that the local scouting organization is doing its best to train and educate these young men to be good citizens, to serve their community, their church and their nation.

I cannot impress upon your readers the importance of the scouting organization training can give a boy.

To enlighten his thoughts and interests, to open his eyes as to what is around him and how it affects him and his neighbor, to focus on the responsibility he learns to take and cope with, is so important to our young boys and men today.

I wish to ask all parents to give their boy a chance at the scouting program and be involved with him in it. It would be an enlightening for all concerned.

During these times, it might be good for parents to get a little more acquainted with their children's activities and support their character upbringing, which the Boy Scout organization is all about.

Again, I ask that readers get their boys involved, and themselves, in the Boy Scout organization, and contact the local office for enrollment.

Proposed licensing law to be extensively altered

By HARRY BARNES
of the Press-Record
Granite City's proposed new business licensing bill will undergo extensive changes before it is again presented to the City Council for final passage. It was decided in a special council session Monday night.

Alderman Paul Fisk, chairman of the ordinance committee, reported he had received a number of written and telephoned complaints about various sections of the licensing measure which was placed on first reading in the April 22 council session.

While Monday night's meeting was called as a special council meeting, only five aldermen attended. The session, along with City Clerk Robert Stevens and City Inspector Emerald Dawes.

Fisk told the attending council members that Jim Livingston, executive vice president of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, had planned to attend the meeting to report the chamber's viewpoints concerning the bill, but had reported he had other commitments and would be unable to attend.

Livingston, however, presented a letter to the council last week expressing the chamber's objections to the licensing measure. Primary objection is to a section of the bill that sets license fees for retail establishments on the basis of the number of employees hired by a firm.

The licensing measure scheduled for earlier bills that extended multiple fees will be taken by the Board of Aldermen. Trustees of the meeting to be held at 7:00 o'clock P.M. Monday on the 16th day of June, 1980.

in some businesses and brought a wave of protest that resulted in Mayor Paul Schuler vetoing the bill on March 25. The mayor's veto resulted also in a complete revision of the measure which again brought many objections when it was placed on first reading.

Fisk said one section of the measure extends licensing requirements for security guards. Fisk noted, adding that he has been informed that the Illinois Supreme Court ruled in a 1976 Chicago case that only the state may license security guards and the firms for which they work.

A written objection to the current bill by the Southern Illinois Builders Association was presented by Fisk. The letter, signed by Wayne Barber, administrative director of the SIBA, said in part:

"Several of our contractor members have requested that this association make known its views concerning the pending ordinance which would impose certain licensing fees on contractors."

"Generally, this association has been in favor of licensing of contractors because the contracting business differs from most other types of businesses. Contractors are not confined to a specific community and many of them do business in a number of cities or counties. If every city were to license such contractors, then the compound effect of such license fees would pose an economic hardship on contracting firms."

The license fee schedule as proposed in Section 5.29.036 also has a compounding effect on contractors. As we interpret this section, contractors would be required to pay a number of different license fees as opposed to any other type of business operating within Granite City. For example, a mechanical contracting firm that performs air conditioning, sheet metal, electrical, mechanical and piping work would be required to purchase five different licenses which would total $500."

The question of the city's right to license many types of businesses which are licensed by the state was discussed and Fisk said that Lance Callis, city attorney, is expected to prepare a list of businesses in which there would be a conflict with state licenses.

The ordinance committee chairman also told the alderman that Dave Nolan, administrative aide to Mayor Paul Schuler, is obtaining copies of licensing ordinances in Belleville and other communities and will provide them for comparison purposes.

Fisk noted that a section of the ordinance providing for an investigation of license applicants by police or other city officials when brought object A from Alderman Charles Douglas, will be eliminated in a revised bill.

"This thing is going to need some work and it will take a little time," Fisk said. He said after the meeting that the measure will not be ready for council action within the next two weeks. The council's next meeting will be Tuesday, May 20.

Attending the meeting Monday were Aldermen Fisk, Sam Whitmer, Lloyd B. Roy Poulos and Michael Modrusis.

Lazerson, 3 others in running for SIUE post
Names of the four finalists for president of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, were announced Tuesday by Deane Wiley, chairman of the Presidential Search Committee.

The four, who will be invited to the campus for public interviews with constituents groups during the weeks of May 19 and 26, are:

John Dillon, coordinator of campus and environmental affairs and professor of physics and systems science at the University of Louisville; campus visit scheduled May 21 and 22.

Gordon Goewey, executive vice president and provost, Trenton State College, Trenton, N.J.; campus visit May 19 and 20.

Thomas Jordan, associate vice chancellor for academic affairs and dean of the Graduate School, University of Missouri at St. Louis; campus visit scheduled May 29 and 30.

Earl Lazerson, acting president of SIUE at Edwardsville; campus interviews scheduled May 27 and 28.

The search was launched in mid-December and more than 125 persons applied or were nominated for the position.

Lazerson, formerly vice president and provost, is serving as acting president until the permanent appointment is made. He was brought to the position in September when Dr. Shaw, formerly president, became chancellor of the SIUE system.

Murphy was located a short time later in the mobile home and was charged with burglary, to which he pleaded guilty Monday.

Judge Moselle ordered his probation in the Tapp burglary revoked and ordered that two year sentence to be served concurrently with a five year prison sentence from the Sch-wierjohn burglary.

The auto of Johnny Theford, East St. Louis, stolen from 18th and Adams streets April 21, was recovered early this week in East St. Louis. The car was not damaged, but the hub caps had been removed.

Burglary while on probation leads to 5-year prison term
Michael R. Murphy, 19, of 2667 Lincoln Ave., was sentenced Monday to serve five years in prison after pleading guilty to committing a burglary Feb. 8, 1980, while he was on probation for another burglary.

Circuit Judge Victor J. Moselle on March 2, 1979, ordered Murphy to serve 90 days in the Madison County Jail and two years of probation after Murphy pleaded guilty to burglary of the home of Ned Tapp, 2708 Lincoln Ave., Christmas eve of 1978, and taking a handgun.

It is alleged that on Feb. 8, 1980, Murphy broke into the home of Carl Sch-wierjohn, 2700 Lincoln Ave., next to Tapp's home, and was found in the house when Sch-wierjohn returned home. The two scuffed briefly and

Chouteau budgets of $151,595 posted

Tentative town budgets totaling $151,595 were completed by the Chouteau Town Board of Trustees Monday night and were posted for public inspection until a public hearing set for 7 p.m. Monday, June 6.

The new budgets are $27,927 lower than budgets in the 1980-81 fiscal year which totaled $179,522, primarily due to an anticipated decrease in federal funding for the revenue sharing program. The township has budgeted $37,300 for revenue sharing projects, which is the anticipated receipts through September. Whether the program will be continued beyond that entitlement period is being studied by Congress.

In the last fiscal year, Chouteau Township appropriated $52,328 for revenue sharing, which aided equipping and maintaining the township hall, paying overdue ambulance bills, setting aside a fund to aid low-income persons for their homes onto the new sanitary sewers, give aid to the Mitchell and South Roxana fire departments and to the Hartford Park Board and to continue the mosquito spray program.

Plans for revenue sharing in the new tentative budget are: administration, $1,000; insurance, $2,000; supervision of the sewer program $8,000; community activities, $3,000; building maintenance and operation, $6,000; and kitchen and permanent equipment for the town building, $500.

Also, payments for overdue ambulance bills, $4,600; mosquito abatement, $6,000; grants to the South Roxana and Mitchell fire departments of $2,000 each, a $2,000 grant to the village of Hartford, $400 for Hospice of Madison County, and $400 to the American Red Cross for emergency and disaster services.

The town fund of $77,095 in the new budget is $800 lower than the $77,695 budgeted in that fund for the 1979-80 fiscal year and general assistance is down from $47,300 in the 1979-80 fiscal year to $37,200 in the tentative 1980-81 budget, a $10,100 drop. The decline in general assistance is made possible by a large accumulation of funds which have been invested over the years to guard against major accidents or claims against the fund.

In other business Monday night, the board approved a request for payment to the Chouteau, Nameoki and Venice Drainage District from Community Development funds for cleaning a ditch west of Mitchell from Route 3 to the pump station near Slough Road.

The bill for $12,499 is to be paid by the county Community Development office under an agreement with the township, acting as sponsoring agency for the drainage district. No township funds are directly involved, officials explained.

Survey of levee to determine extent of loss

A suit against SCA Services to recover damages for dirt allegedly removed from the Cahokia Canal levee east of Route 203 will be filed by the Metro-East Sanitary District as soon as surveys determine the amount of the loss, trustees of the district reported in a meeting Tuesday morning.

Surveyors and engineers began work on the survey Monday after district board members estimated that from 150,000 to 200,000 cubic yards of dirt have been removed from the levee and allegedly used as cover for the SCA landfill.

Robert Robinson of Granite City, chairman of the sanitary district board, and Walter "Shang" Greathouse, a Granite City board member, said dirt is now worth $5 to $7 a cubic yard. At that rate, the district's loss is at least $500,000, they said.

Board trustees said Tuesday that the survey work should be completed within the next week and preparation of the suit will begin.

Board members also voted Tuesday to notify the village of Caseyville that unless delinquent sewer fees incurred by village residents are paid by May 27, the district will shut off the village flow of sanitary sewage and discontinue treatment.

Trustees reported that residents had not been advised by village officials not to pay their sewer treatment fees because the village has not been receiving treatment.

The trustees said, however, that the Landowne sewage treatment plant has not been receiving sewage from much of Caseyville because of a break in the main line. A request by the village for EPA grants to repair the line have been rejected.

After tomorrow's deadline, senior citizens will have to pay $5.50 for vehicle stickers.
